

The Flu and You

What to expect
How to prepare

it's a small world after all

A new round of pandemic flu could hit the US within weeks, according to US and international health officials. Come hear a panel of experts update us on the global movement and severity of H1N1, medical aspects of the illness, and how to prepare and protect ourselves, our families and our communities.

Medical

Deborah Kutzko, FNP
Infectious Disease Unit
Fletcher Allen Health Care, will discuss the medical aspects of the H1N1 virus.

Public Health

Christine Finley, MPH Deputy Commissioner for the Vermont Dept. of Health, will present up-to-date public health information from the global and local perspectives.

Community

Gwendolyn Hallsmith, Director of Planning and Community Development at the City of Montpelier, will share her views and experience on community preparedness and resilience.

This event is presented by Green Mountain Global Forum and the Mad River Valley Health Center. The event is free and the public is invited to attend.

Valley Players Theater, Waitsfield, VT

Discussion and refreshments to follow presentation

Thursday Sept 10, 2009 at 7pm

For information go to: www.gmgf.org or call: 496-7556